There are many elderly people who live alone. They cannot do everything by themselves so they need help.

Elderly people may have problems with health. So relatives should do physical work for them and be near when needed. These people want ^{somebody} to talk to. Relatives are best for it. ⁵⁰

Japanese scientists invented a system which analyzes sounds from a flat using a microphone. I consider it useful. On the other hand, elderly people need privacy. The system produces a feeling of being watched. It makes relatives' lives easier but an elderly person may feel uncomfortable.

If we worry about ¹⁰⁰ our elderly relatives, we should take care of them and think not only about their safety but about comfort too.
