Essay.

Some parents teach their children at home rather than sending them to school. Is it a good or a bad thing for the ⁴⁰⁰⁰ children?

Nowadays we have two opposite opinions about home studying. Some people think children should attend school while others do not see anything bad ^{log.} in parents as a ^{gr} teachers.

Personally, I think home studying ^{sp} can be a good thing, but only if parents do everything right. First of all, parents must be good teachers, they must be calm and have a skill to explain new information. Also parents should be prepared to pay money to tutors, because not everyone can explain complex subjects correctly, especially the person, who does not know it ^{log.} on the perfect ^{gr} level. Moreover, parents must care about children socialisation. Child should attend some clubs to make friends, because communication only with parents will not be enough. Also home studying can be really good choice for the introverts, it is better way to help them to learn ^{lex} the world.

But some people think parents will never be able to do everything right and there is no way instead ^{lex} of going to school ^{sp}. They think children will be silly and he or she ^{gr} will have problems in communication with others, so it is much easier way to send kid to school.

To sum up, home studying can be even better than school, but it needs more time and forces ^{lex} than anyone could think ^{lex}. Home schools still develop. ^{At our time} we have option to study at home and attend online school. In the future home schools might become even more popular than real ^{lex} are.
